FUTURE OF BOERS.

Gen. Viljoen Considers British Pacification Efforts So Far a Failure.

Prospects for the rehabilitation of the Boer country are very poor, according to the reports brought to New York recently by General Ben J. Viljoen, one of the Transvaal leaders in the fight with Great Britain, who was a passenger on the Umbria. He hopes to engage in agricultural interests in Mexico, for his home is wrecked, and for the people of his native land are unable to recover from the effects of the war which devastated their lands.

"As the war is all over there remains nothing to be done but to make the best of a bad job," said the general. "I believe the British government is making an honest effort to restore the Transvaal and the Orange Free State to their former prosperity, but it is handicapped to a large extent by the fact that many of the men assigned to the task are not fitted for the work."

"The Boers are trying to make the best of the situation, but in many cases their efforts to be friendly are repulsed. On my voyage from the Cape to England I met several British officers, who did everything they could to show their contempt and dislike for me. I do not care for such things on my own account, but I think the English should do all in their power to reconcile a conquered nation."

"Many of the Boers never will be re-established in their homes, and hundreds have wandered off and have been lost. There was a plan to settle many of them in Chihuahua, Mexico, where a concession of 85,000 acres had been given. There are now four families down there. The Mexican government promised to furnish transportation to fifty, but it has not done so and has constantly postponed fulfilling its obligation. I shall go to Mexico soon to look after a tract of 2,000,000 acres in the same state which has been offered on more favorable conditions, and probably a large colony of Boers will settle there. I shall make my home there."

ANTI-OSCULATION SOCIETY.

National Organization That Forbids Kissing and Googoo Eyes.

A. S. Rutherford, secretary of the National Anti-osculation Society of America, believes that it is more important to enlist the kisser than the kissee, and so he avows frankly that he would rather bring under his anti-osculation banner the men than the women, says a San Francisco special.

Rutherford has attached to his anti-kissing pledge "to abstain from the use for purposes of attraction, allurements or fascinations of all such facial expressions and contortions as are known and designated by the names of cat's eyes, sheep's eyes, googoo eyes, winks, blazes or other designating alterations of countenance."

The member also binds himself or herself "not to make use of any terms of endearment, such as lovely, sweetness, birdie, littlet, onliest, tootsy tootsy, etc., to any one, whether a member of this organization or not."
